Use the story starter below to complete a story about the picture.

Just as Rose came to a clearing, her eyes fell upon the most remarkable site. A giant egg! "What on Earth?" she uttered. Suddenly, a dramatic crack spread across the surface of the egg's shell...

Challenge: Can you include any of our rainbow grammar features?

- Adverbial clause – these start with subordinating conjunctions e.g. By the time Rose realised this was no ordinary egg,
- Fronted Adverbials e.g. Unbelievably, At the break of dawn, Over the horizon
- Linking Adverbs e.g. besides, for example, in fact, similarly, therefore

Reading

Look at the RAF horrible Histories song - <https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=GLUyEXO-jl0> and create a list of facts and opinions that are within the lyrics. Can you create a fact sheet based on information you have found out?

| | |
|---|---|
| Facts Tell us what happened and can be proven true or false | Opinions Are attitudes or judgements that cannot be proven right or wrong |
|---|---|

Inference Skill
Look at the picture. What is the man doing? Who is he? Why is the girl behind him?
Has she said anything to him? Use evidence to support your answer.

Flashback

Remember our first vehicle 'Stargazers'? We'd love you to do something about it again. Design a spacesuit for a future astronaut exploring a planet in a solar system.
What adjustments would the suit need for the planet you picked? Why? What materials would you use?

Weekly Learning Project

Create a 'Planet Profile' about the planet we landed on in our first Vehicle ('Stargazers'). You can do this in your work books, your own card/paper or access a template on Purple Mash – It has been set on your 'To Dos' like your other online learning tasks.

[PILOT #1]

We fighter pilots

Fought the German chaps in World War II

[PILOT #2]

In Hurricanes and Spitfires

Performed feats of derring-do

[PILOT #3]

The finest British pilots

That the world could hope to have

[PILOT #1]

Binky!

[PILOT #2]

Stinky!

[PILOT #3]

Squiffy!

[PILOT #4]

Franstisek!

[PILOT #5]

And Stansislav!

[PILOT #2]

Hold fire, is that some foreign chaps

Risking their necks?

[PILOT #4]

That's right! Some of the bravest men

Were Polish and Czech!

[ALL]

We like to fire

Beating Jerrie, our one desire

Yeah, yeah!

All we do each night is pray

We'll live to fight another day

[PILOT #1]

Take that, Hitler!

[DOUGLAS BADER]

My name is Douglas Bader

Let me tell of my ordeal

Lost both legs in an accident

These ones are not real (They're not real)

I left the air force after that

Flying was a hobby

But when war broke in '39

Came back! (Just like Robbie)

Shot down 22 of them

Led the air attack

'Til finally the Luftwaffe

Hit me back!

Oh no, pretty baby

[ALL]

His plane on fire

[DOUGLAS BADER]

Stuck in Colditz

Such a shame to retire

Yeah, yeah!

[ALL]

Never forget this great man's story

And his role in Britain's glory

[PILOT #4]

We flew in tough conditions

Lucky to survive five missions

[PILOT #2]

Not that I'm complaining

But I've had just ten hours training

[PILOT #3]

Epic dogfights in the sky

Outnumbered, that's why

[PILOT #2]

We're now known by you

As The Few...

[PILOT #5, spoken]

Phew, he missed me!

[PILOT #2]

The Battle of Britain

Was our pilots' finest hour

Although it seemed at first

The Germans were the stronger power (Oh, so strong)

We mustered all our courage

In summer 1940

Scrambled Air Force squadrons to fly

Sortie after sortie

Saw Nazi invasion off

Just as airmen should

Our bravery meant Hitler

Wouldn't be back for good

No, no

[ALL]

We beat the Fuhrer

Without us frequent flyers

Your life would be poorer

Yeah, yeah!

Britain securer

Our stories of heroics will forever endure

Wow, yeah!

So I think you'll find its true...
